

Biography:

Dr. Daniela Giannetto graduated in Biology at Catania University (Italy) in 2006. After a MD in "Conservation of animal biodiversity: protected areas and ecological networks" at La Sapienza University in Rome (Italy) and a MD in "Planning of integrated quality-environment-safety systems according to ISO European standards" at Catania University (Italy), she granted her PhD in Biology and Ecology in 2012 at Perugia University. She carried out her PostDoc at the Faculty of Fisheries and Aquaculture of Muğla Sıtkı Koçman University (Turkey). Since 2014 Dr. Giannetto is a member of Academic staff of Muğla Sıtkı Koçman University where currently she is enrolled as Associate Professor at the Department of Biology (Faculty of Sciences).

Dr. Giannetto's research mainly deals with the study of freshwater fish biology and ecology. She has authored several publications on peer review journals and she is member of editorial boards and acts actively as referee for several international journals and committees.

Research interests: Fish Biology and Ecology; Ecology of Aquatic Ecosystems; Fisheries Management and Biology; Biodiversity & Conservation of Aquatic Ecosystems; Hydrobiology.

Complete list of publications is available at:

- <https://scholar.google.com.tr/citations?user=59R5E1wAAAAJ&hl=tr&oi=a>
- https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Daniela\_Giannetto
- <http://www.mu.edu.tr/tr/personel/danielagiannetto>